CONGRESS THEME: ONE HEALTH, ONE PHARMACY – BRIDGING SCIENCE, PRACTICE, AND EDUCATION

The 84th FIP World Congress will bring together pharmacists, pharmaceutical scientists and educators, to advance pharmacy's role in patient-centred care and global health. The programme will examine how pharmacists can drive progress towards better health outcomes, equitable access to essential medicines and resilient health systems worldwide.

The programme is structured around three subthemes, each addressing key facets of the overarching theme:

INTEGRATED HEALTH

This subtheme highlights how pharmacists apply the One Health concept in practice—addressing interconnected challenges across human, environmental and system levels. Through science, education and patient care, sessions will explore real-world examples of how global principles are adapted to local realities.

INNOVATING WITH PURPOSE

This subtheme explores how purposeful advances — whether through new care models, scientific discoveries, educational methods or technology— can shape the future of pharmacy. Sessions will highlight practical approaches that improve patient safety, expand access to care, and build workforce capability.

COLLABORATING FOR EQUITY

This subtheme focuses on how pharmacists and pharmacy stakeholders can drive progress towards health equity through collaboration and inclusive practices. Sessions will highlight initiatives that address disparities in care, workforce distribution, access to medicines and health education technological innovations.
